

PROBATION DEPARTMENT

ANNUAL REPORT FOR FISCAL YEAR
2003/2004

Let no one be discouraged by the belief that there is nothing one person can do against the enormous array of the world's ills, misery, ignorance, and violence.

Few will have the greatness to bend history, but each of us can work to change a small portion of events. And in the total of all those acts will be written the history of a generation.

Robert Francis Kennedy

MERCED COUNTY PROBATION DEPARTMENT

MISSION STATEMENT

We administer corrective services that hold offenders accountable for their behavior, and provide rehabilitative services in order to strengthen and protect our community.

² The automated Juvenile Traffic program was modified early in fiscal year 2000/2001. As statistics were being compiled for this report it was discovered that not all data was appropriately captured. Therefore, fiscal year 2000/2001 may not be completely accurate. Corrections to the system were made to ensure proper data collection from fiscal year 2001/2002 and forward.

FY 2003/04

PROGRAMS

JUVENILE HALL GROUP

The Juvenile Hall Group Program is designed to help incarcerated juveniles deal with detention-related problems and to educate them about the juvenile justice system. The Juvenile Hall Group Program was initiated in 1979 when it became evident incarcerated juveniles could benefit from a forum for sharing information.

This program is facilitated by Juvenile Hall personnel. The program is held approximately weekly by a Juvenile Institutions Officer. It not only deals with the topics indicated above, but also includes a general orientation to the Juvenile Hall program, Juvenile Hall rules of conduct, the Juvenile Hall Responsible Behavior Program, and the Juvenile Hall grievance program. The program provides direct information and responds to those topics for which information is requested.

VOLUNTEERS IN PROBATION

The Volunteers in Probation (VIP) program had its beginning in 1972 and was initiated for the purpose of utilizing volunteer assistance in the management of Probation and Juvenile Hall populations. Awareness of the program is gained through college classes and by way of people talking with people. The number of volunteers in probation totaled five (5) in fiscal year 2003/04. The volunteers contributed approximately 101.1 hours per month in support services, intake/investigation services, supervision services, juvenile traffic services, and juvenile hall services. A total of 505.5 hours were donated during fiscal year 03/04.

Following is a list of those persons who generously contributed their services during the year:

Juan Aguilar
Veronica Aguilera
Miarbel Garibay
Maricela Gutierrez
Lee Lor

In fiscal year 2004/2005, the AA and Alateen programs will get started at the New Iris Garrett Juvenile Justice Complex. These programs will add approximately 4 to 6 new volunteers to the volunteer program.

YOUTH ACCOUNTABILITY BOARD (Y.A.B.)

The Youth Accountability Board (YAB) was formed in 1995 by a group of local citizens who wanted to volunteer their time and energy to make an impact on the soaring juvenile crime rate. It was their hope by intervening in the lives of first-time offenders they might hold the minors accountable for their illegal behavior and offer support to their parents/guardians, thereby strengthening the family and community.

Juveniles referred to the Probation Department for first-time minor offenses can be diverted to the Youth Accountability Board. The minor and his/her parents/guardians meet with a YAB Social Investigator, who obtains pertinent information regarding the minor and the home/school/community situation. The family later appears before a panel of community volunteers, who hear the matter and form an appropriate contract for the juvenile. If the juvenile complies, the matter is dismissed and the record purged. If the minor fails to follow-through with the contract, the matter is returned to the Probation Department.

Panels meet once a month and hear several cases at each meeting. A Deputy Probation Officer is present at the hearings, acting as an advisor. The Youth Accountability Board membership meets every month, to share information and set policies and procedures. A newsletter is distributed to the membership.

During fiscal year 1999/00, the Board expanded a panel into the west side community of Dos Palos and continued it's Merced, Atwater, Livingston and Winton panels. During fiscal year 2000/01 another panel was established in Merced. During fiscal year 2002/03 a panel was established in the City of Los Banos. It is the goal of the department to begin a second panel in Los Banos and one in Delhi during the next fiscal year.

The number of trained community volunteers in the Youth Accountability Board totaled 103 at the end of fiscal year 2003/04. The volunteers contributed approximately 143.6 hours per month. A total of 1723 hours were donated during fiscal year 2003/04.

The total number of referrals to the Youth Accountability Board since it began is 1268.

PARENT ACCOUNTABILITY BOARD (P.A.B.)

In May of 2000, the Probation Department began a program designed to include parents in the rehabilitation of their delinquent children. All of the parents referred to this program are the parents of children in placements.

This program is an attempt by the Probation Department, the Juvenile Court, the District Attorney's office and volunteers from the community to address the parents' needs and responsibilities.

The primary purpose of the Parent Accountability Board is to provide assistance and guidelines to parents of wards who are in placement. These guidelines are provided in the form of orders of the Court which are given at the time the child is removed from the parents' home. Parents are also directed to appear before the Parent Accountability Board which reviews and reinforces the orders of the Court. Difficulties are discussed and the Board assists the parents in assessing and correcting problems which lead to the child's out-of-home placement. After the child returns home, the P.A.B. continues to work with the family in conjunction with the assigned Probation Officer to ensure that counseling and school attendance are maintained and that the parents are providing appropriate care and supervision to the child.

Each parent is scheduled for a review before the Juvenile Court at which time the Parent Accountability Board provides a written report to the Court regarding the parents' cooperation and progress. Parents who refuse to cooperate or who, by their actions, actually contribute to their child's failure, are referred to the District Attorney's office for possible charges. Those charges could be civil or criminal in nature.

There are currently three (3) P.A.B. panels operating; 2 in Merced and 1 in Winton. These three panels meet a total of three times per month. The volunteers for PAB have donated in excess of 568 hours during this past year.

JUVENILE WORK PROGRAM

The Juvenile Work Program, for juvenile law violators, was initiated in January of 1976, with the passage of a resolution by the Board of Supervisors extending Workers' Compensation coverage to wards assigned to the Program. Workers' Compensation coverage was subsequently expanded to include juvenile traffic violators, informal probationers (including conditional dismissals) and six (6) month court probationers. Minors, in appropriate cases, are assigned to the Program as a condition of probation or dismissal, in lieu of court-ordered commitments to Juvenile Hall, traffic fines, or other dispositional alternatives. In some cases, this program is used in conjunction with these other dispositional alternatives.

In October of 1984, management of the program on the east side of the county (Merced and Atwater) was assumed by Juvenile Hall staff. Management of the program on the west side of the county remains the responsibility of the Los Banos branch office probation staff. Staff responsibility includes obtaining performance evaluations, briefing and instructing assignees and their parents regarding the program, and maintaining liaison with the public agencies which provide suitable work sites for juveniles assigned to the work program in Merced, Atwater, Los Banos, Dos Palos and Gustine. Direct field supervision of minors assigned to the program is provided by Juvenile Hall extra-help employees on weekends during the school year and, during the summer months, by both Juvenile Hall extra-help employees and personnel from the public agencies to which the minors are assigned for weekday work.

CRISIS HOME PROGRAM

The Merced County Crisis Home Program is designed to provide contractual temporary shelter care for runaway/out-of-control minors coming within the provisions of Section 601 of the California Welfare and Institutions Code, pending return of such minors to the homes of their parents or guardians.

The operation of the Home between 1977 and 1981 was financed through an Office of Criminal Justice Planning grant. Upon expiration of grant funding on February 28, 1981, the program became fully reimbursable under the provisions of the State Justice System Subvention Program. With the State of California's budget "realignment" act of fiscal year 1991-92, this contract was provided for through "realignment" funds.

The department no longer operates a crisis home program because of low usage. The department has entered into an understanding with the Human Services Agency that allows the department to use a foster home when the need for this type of care occurs.

PARTNERSHIP FOR ADOLESCENT SUCCESS (PAS)

In April 1993, the Probation Department in conjunction with the County Superintendent of Schools, County Mental Health Department and Private Industries Training Department, joined forces to provide an alternative program to out-of-county placement. Appropriate minors at risk for out-of-county placement are considered by each agency for the "Community School/Day Treatment Program" renamed "Adolescent Placement Program" in 1994 and "Partnership for Adolescent Success" in 1997. The program consists of four hours of school each day and Mental Health programs which included group and individual counseling, substance abuse education/counseling and job skills training each afternoon Monday through Friday. Minors placed in this program are transported to the program by county schools. When initially placed in the program, minors are placed on electronic monitors so close supervision can be afforded the minors while not involved in program activities during evening hours and on weekends. As a minor progresses through a four step program, monitoring is gradually reduced and in the fourth step eliminated.

* Due to funding constraints, the Private Industry Training Department withdrew from the program in July of 1995.

OUT-OF-HOME PLACEMENTS

Out-of-home placement programs are an extension of local treatment resources for juveniles. During this past calendar year the Juvenile Court placed wards in private foster homes, group homes and treatment facilities throughout the State of California that could be paid for with AFDC funds. Depending on a placed minor's eligibility, county funds for private placement range from 40-60 percent. In 1997, a pilot project was developed between Human Services Agency and Probation Department to place minors in county operated facilities. Cost for placement of minors in county operated facilities are exclusively at county expense.

The Department continues to attempt to selectively place minors, who needed to be temporarily removed from their parents' custody, in facilities suitable to their treatment needs and maturity levels. Minors placed in out-of-home facilities have generally been those who have failed to adjust to local treatment, and appear not appropriate for commitment to the California Youth Authority.

State regulations require minors placed in AFDC supported facilities be visited and interviewed by representatives from placing agencies on a regular basis. These visits are made to ensure treatment programs are appropriate to the needs of the minors placed and the facilities and programs are maintained in accordance with department expectations and state-regulated treatment standards. Periodic visitations, as well as the return of placement failures, are among the responsibilities of the Department's two placement officers. The placement deputies are also responsible for intake, supplemental reports and reviews of those cases they supervise.

SUBSIDIZED PROGRAMS

SPECIALIZED DRUG SUPERVISION PROGRAM

In the latter part of fiscal year 1989-90, the State Office of Criminal Justice Planning offered to each county, within the State, a non-competitive grant to be used to combat drug abuse during fiscal year 1990-91. The parameters of the grant dictated that the monies would only be awarded for specific strategies, as outlined by the Office of Criminal Justice Planning, to cooperative ventures entered into by the county's law enforcement agencies, District Attorney's office and Probation Department.

Based on an agreement entered into by the agencies indicated above and with the limited funding available through OCJP, the District Attorney received one deputy district attorney position and the Probation Department received one deputy probation officer position. The District Attorney's office used their new position to provide for vertical prosecution of Merced/Mariposa Narcotics Task Force arrests. The Probation Department used the grant funded position to do specialized drug supervision of up to 30 probationers as outlined in the OCJP strategies. In the second, third, fourth, and fifth years of operation, a continued cooperative venture was maintained between the agencies involved with this program. With increased funding the District Attorney's office, during the second year, was able to add a paralegal position to help increase asset forfeiture activity in drug cases.

During the six, seventh and eighth year of operation, the Probation Department position was responsible for supervising a caseload of 15 probationers who were identified as having been involved, in some way, in the illicit drug subculture. In addition, the deputy assigned to this program acted as the department's liaison to the Merced/Mariposa Narcotics Task Force.

Since Fiscal Year 1998-99 the probation officer assigned to this project acts as the department's liaison to the Task Force. The probation officer is a full fledged agent of the Task Force investigating drug crimes throughout the County. The probation officer concentrates investigation efforts on those cases where probationers are involved.

STRENGTHEN & ALTER FAMILY ENVIRONMENTS (SAFE)

In February of 1994, the Probation Department was funded for a deputy probation officer position by the District Attorney's Office. This position was funded with monies available through the District Attorney's Family Support Division incentive funds to do a pilot project that would assist children through reduction of domestic violence and crimes against children.

The program, initially named the "Child First Project" and later renamed "The Family Violence Project", allowed the District Attorney's office; besides using the available funds to support two Deputy District Attorney positions, an investigator and support staff, the ability to support a deputy probation officer.

This deputy probation officer was assigned the responsibility of supervising up to seventy cases on formal probation. These probationers on probation for crimes perpetrated against minors, primarily sex offenders, were afforded closer supervision than those probationers on a regular caseload.

In December of 1999, the source of funds became unavailable for the Family Violence Project. Since then, this agency has been successful in securing a grant to work with domestic violence offenders on probation.

The S.A.F.E. (Strengthen and Alter Family Environments) Program was implemented August 1, 2000. A probation officer was assigned to the caseload full time on October 1, 2000. The caseload was comprised initially of 26 cases, had 11 probationers who did not reside with the family and there were 40 children involved.

The probationers and families are assigned to this officer until their probation obligation has been fulfilled, no less than three years. Completions will come slowly as the probationer and family work through all the issues involved and participate in required counseling and classes. The officer is required to meet with her probationers once a week, twice at home during the month, once at the office and once by phone. The officer is also required to meet with the victims once per month, whether or not they are living with the probationer. Victims are referred to any and all services needed and probationers are assisted in obtaining a job.

3015 JUVENILE SUPERVISION PROGRAM

In 1997, Merced County Department of Mental Health allocated funding to provide a probation officer position to supervise a caseload of juvenile probationers who were also receiving mental health treatment. This position works in tandem with the Partnership for Adolescent Success deputy. The probation officer assigned to this program is located at Department of Mental Health, allowing for coordinated efforts in treatment of high risk minors.

JUVENILE JUSTICE CRIME PREVENTION ACT (JJCPA)

The Juvenile Justice Crime Prevention Act funds a Comprehensive Multi-agency Juvenile Justice Plan. According to the legislation, any implemented program would have to be based on a proven program which would offer control of juvenile crime and delinquency through prevention, intervention, suppression and/or incapacitation. On April 24, 2001, The Board of Supervisors approved the first Multi-agency Juvenile Justice plan comprised of three programs. Contracts were developed with the Cities of Merced and Los Banos and the Child Advocates of Merced County to provide services identified in the proposed programs.

This first program (COOL) was a collaborative effort with community law enforcement to suppress juvenile criminal behavior by providing intensive services to high-risk offenders and their families. The Correcting Offender Outcomes Locally (COOL) began in July 2001 with two police/probation teams providing non-conventional supervision of two juvenile caseloads – one in Merced and one in Los Banos. The Officers share case information and worked non-traditional hours as needed to increase visibility and effectiveness in the community. Housed and attached to local police departments, these two teams relied on the availability of patrol support and a network of round-the-clock surveillance and back-up from the police agencies involved in the project.

The Giving Responsibility to Adolescents to Develop Success (GRADS) Program, a new iteration replacing COOL in fiscal year 2003/04, assigns probation officers to each high school in the County, using the Dos Palos Oro Loma School District Probation Officer model. By dedicating an officer to each high school we effect better supervision of juveniles, intercede in the lives of at-risk juveniles, partner with the schools and provide support through knowledge of that particular high school's needs and strengths.

The probation officer in each high school also partners with local law enforcement and becomes an active participant in the community. The program achieves County-wide probation supervision of probationers and wards who attend regular schools by partnering with the schools to provide appropriate and consistent services to the juveniles and their families. Six probation officers are assigned to various high schools throughout the County to work extensively with probationers and wards who attend each campus and their affiliate "feeder" schools.

A probation assistant carries out supportive casework duties at the Day Reporting Center which is maintained for administrative use as an alternative to custody, suspensions and independent study, so that youngsters continue in their studies and do not have an excess of unstructured free time.

Any probationer or ward who is attending regular school is assigned to a caseload for supervision. The probation officers monitor performance and progress and partner with the schools of attendance to enhance the likelihood of each minor’s success, increasing attendance, academic performance and involvement in extracurricular activities. Information sharing is maintained on a daily basis since the officers are assigned to specific schools; and, where possible, are housed therein. In keeping with the “One Stop Shop” concept, the officer’s presence on campus also allows for earlier interventions in the lives of students who have not yet been formally referred to the justice system.

By maintaining a place in the community, the officers are able to partner with local law enforcement and take part in local activities as well as share information and effort with local resources. That too is done on a regular basis since the officers are readily available to those agencies and community organizations. By sharing information and activities, we believe probation and law enforcement are effecting safer schools and dealing more effectively with gang activity.

Dos Palos Schools Officer Program is designed to be a collaborative effort between the Probation Department and the Dos Palos Unified School District. This program places a probation officer in the school system to supervise juvenile probationers attending the district’s campuses, as well as provide prevention and intervention services to those students who exhibit at-risk behaviors such as truancy, tardiness, detention and poor academic progress. The probation officer participates in school programs and teams with the campus resource officer. The officer is also available to the general community to provide outreach services. The school district provides an office and the basic office equipment for this probation officer.

A collaborative effort between the probation department and the Child Advocates of Merced County made up the final program in this Multi-agency plan. The Mentoring Program provided mentors to be role models working with juvenile probationers to encourage and guide them into more positive lifestyles. The mentors were successful adults in the community who volunteered for the program. The Child Advocates program hired a Coordinator to recruit, train, assign and supervise the volunteer mentors.

During 2003/04 there were a total of nineteen juveniles in the program. Two are still in the program, ten completed the program and 7 did not complete. This program has now run its course and is no longer operating with probation support. The Child Advocates of Merced County still advocate for the juveniles continuing in the program.

TRAINING

TRAINING

In November of 1980, the Board of Supervisors approved Merced County's participation in the State-funded Board of Corrections, Standards and Training for Corrections Program (STC) by which counties are subvented at an annually determined rate per eligible employee for the costs of training Probation and Juvenile Hall employees. All subvented funds were eliminated in the 2003/04 State budget process

Listed on the following pages are the training courses, seminars, workshops and conferences attended by Probation and Juvenile Hall staff during 2003/04.
