Members agreed to keep the Mission and Vision as presented. The Core Values were also read and the Chair asked members if anyone had a new Core Value to be added to the list. Members agreed to leave the Core Values as presented. There was discussion about other ways to help the partners and staff focus on the Mission, Vision and Core Values. Following are suggestions:

HSA

- a) When a new employee is hired, they attend an in-house orientation which incorporates different training activities built around the agency's values. The new employee is encouraged to memorize and recite the Mission, Vision and Core Values.
- b) At the employee yearly evaluation, there's a section where the immediate supervisor chooses what Core Value the employee exemplifies and writes a brief paragraph of how it is displayed at work.
- c) Staff has cards on each of their desk with the Core Values, Vision and Mission statement.
- d) The Mission, Vision and Core Values are posted on walls and their website.
